DUTY ON AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

Our enterprising contemporary, the Winnipeg Sun, which by the way deserves special credit for its interview system, publishes a talk with a representative of a leading firm of Canadian manufacturers of agricultural implements, which throws considerable light on the subject of the effect of the duty on that class of manufactures. The interview, which we give below, states the case so plainly that it requires no comment. It reads as follows:

"The increase of the duty on American implements," said Mr. Jocke, of A. Harris & Son, "won't increase the price of implements here one cent, while, after this year, it will virtually drive the American manufacturers out of the market. Canadian goods are now sold cheaper than the American article. Take plows for instance; the Canadian plow is an average of $4 cheaper than the American article."

"Is it true that Canadian implement men are selling American goods?"

"In some cases they are, but it is only to a small extent. Of the implements, etc., sold last year in Manitoba and the Northwest, over 80 per cent. were Canadian manufacture."

"It is alleged that Canadian manufacturers cannot supply the market?"

"They can supply all the goods required in this market. The keen competition of the sale of implements is having the effect of forcing farmers to buy more goods than they should do—more than he is able to pay for by the instruments of long credits, and this is particularly the case with men handling American goods."

"What are the Americans able to give you in long credits?"

"Because they manufacture in large quantities, and prefer to sell their surplus stock at long credit rather than carry it over. Then they know the great importance of the market, and want to cultivate it. But we, too, then, give long credits of from three to five years, to enable the Canadian manufacturer to get into the market monopoly into which, for a short time, he has put us, before paying him for his goods. We have come to stay, and intend to cover our share in supplying the market. We are double the business of very little increased cost of management. Our goods are in quality and cheapness as those aided by the tariff, must now drive Americans out of this market. Farmers who have purchased these foreign goods will then find it impossible, or at any rate a great inconvenience, to duplicate broken parts and many will consequently buy new machines before they had half their value out of the machine. This, of course, involves a loss."

"It is urged that while the Americans have had years of experience in manufacturing marine implements, that the Canadians are only just commencing the experiment?"

"That is the American stock argument. But it no longer holds good. Canadian manufacturers guarantee their goods to be equal in every respect to the American article, and do it to the satisfaction of the purchaser. That argument they hold in regard to sulky and gang plows."

"But even these are now being made by Canadians. But to say that Canadians cannot make goods equal in every respect to Yankees is absurd."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

We regret to learn that no hope is entertained of the recovery of Hon. Senator Gable, who is dying at his home in Oshawa. Mayor McTigue, of Windsor, a former member of Parliament is also reported dying from Bright's disease of the kidneys.

Early, General Lord Alexander Russell has been appointed to succeed General McDowell in command of the troops in Canada from May 1st next, when the latter's term of office expires. This is the second time he has held an official position in Canada, having been A. D. C. to the Governor-General in 1847.

A London paper to the New York World says: "No doubt whatever is entertained that the Queen will be able to go next week to Sandringham, where the Prince of Wales has made arrangements for a dramatic performance in which the stars are to be Mr. Henry Irving and Miss Ellen Terry. Your readers will have a good idea of the extent of which the Queen has withdrawn herself from the death of the Prince Consort when I tell you that she has never seen either of those actors, though Irving has been for ten years the recognized favorite for nearly as long. Unless I am mistaken, this will be only the second time that her majesty has seen a play during her widowhood."

It has been semi-officially announced, and may be taken as the fact, that Sir Charles Tupper, Minister of Railways, will immediately after the session, retire from the Cabinet and succeed Sir Alex. Gal. as Canadian High Commissioner at London. Since Confederation, Sir Charles has been one of the most potent forces in Canadian politics. As an administrator, he has been characterized by industry, vigor and activity. In the arena of debate, he has the peer of Parliament. While an orator, pure and simple, he stands head and shoulders above all others, being only approached by Mr. Blake. His retirement from active politics will be a loss to Parliament irrespective of party, but the country will no doubt be largely the gainer, by the transfer of his talents to his new field of labor. His nervous energy, great ability and ambition in whatever he undertakes, make it certain that there will be no more "machiavellian" about the Canadian office in London, and that if there are any hopes in the public service over the water, they may look forward to a different style of work, or speak up to end their usefulness gone.

The good people of Brandon, who have been basking in the sunshine for some time back, may get an idea of the kind of climate being enjoyed by our less favored brethren in Ontario from the following despatch dated Mount Forest, April 2nd: "A train on the T. U. & B. Railway reached here last night, the first since March 5th. The snow is still deep here and sleighing unimpeded."

Log houses at West Lynne are worth 15cts each foot and 25cts in trade.

Commodore Robt. Taylor of the North Ward from parts of Emerson, left last Wednesday for Brandon, and expects to be away about a month.

The Red River has risen about ten inches within the past week; as yet the ice shows no signs of melting, and looks as solid as anything during the winter.

Mr. Johnson, who has been getting out gold from the main line of the C. P. R. east of Saskatchewan, arrived to-day and expects his teams tomorrow. He got one 15,000 tons. The C. P. R. has cancelled orders for any more, being sufficient supply, and many of the teams are breaking up.

A Magnificent Field for Immigrants—
What an Irish Newspaper thinks of it!

The British Northern Wing has the following editorial reference to the Canadian Northwest as a field for immigration: "It is admirable to observe that the Canadian Prairie gives great promise of prosperity, not only for its shareholders, but for the community at large. It possesses a property base which has never fallen to the lot of prosperity. The totals are thus given by Mr.
Palmer, leader of the Opposition in the Canadian Parliament: Twenty-five million dollars paid in on the Government, thirty-five million dollars value of railways received from the Government; proceeds from lands so far sold, seventeen and a quarter million dollars leaving twenty-seven million dollars in all.
The said lands are regarded as worth what they actually sold have realized. The present value of the subsidies is, in fact put down at a hundred and twenty-seven million dollars, while the company is proceeding with the construction of their railway system which will complete it for an outlay of nearly thirty seven million dollars.
Ottawa income is already very considerable and is expected soon to equal that of the great Atlantic States one which connects the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. The magnitude of this success is not to be assessed by the profits of the shareholders but is undeniably attributable to the opening of the Northwest districts to the immigrants who are now seeking homes in the western Continent. The Canadian Government is very anxious to have the stream of immigration directed to those wild and fruitful regions, and is holding out enticing inducements to intending immigrants.
It would be a great blessing to the western provinces if bound it to destitute prosperity and be transferred to such a country. It is a right career, not to speak of a living, for a few people who have been living hand to mouth for generations, and have died in the deepest poverty."
